- b. The Scientology Scriptures contain a record of research and observation of LRH into the nature of the human mind and spirit and a spiritual guide intended to assist persons to become more aware of themselves as spiritual beings, restoring respect for self and others, and not for treating or diagnosing human ailments of body or mind nor for engaging in teaching or practicing medical arts or sciences. - a. This Agreement rescinds and replaces all previous agreements with respect to the Marks, and AUDITOR has no rights of any kind with respect to any of the Marks except those rights that are granted by this Agreement;
- b. The Marks shall not become part of the assets of AUDITOR, and all use by AUDITOR of any of the Marks, is and shall be pursuant to this Agreement alone, and shall support the ownership of the Marks by RTC with the same effect as if RTC had itself made that use; and
- c. If this Agreement ever is terminated for any reason, AUDITOR shall immediately cease all use of each of the Marks, and shall forever refrain from further use of any of the Marks, unless and until formally reinstated hereunder.

8. Enforcement of Obligations of Performance

This Agreement shall be and remain in effect for as long as AUDITOR continues to be licensed to use the Marks, and shall be terminable by RTC, CSI and I HELP for cause, subject to arbitration as provided herein. At its discretion, RTC may immediately suspend the right of AUDITOR to use any of the Marks pending arbitration, if AUDITOR is not using the Marks, or is misusing any of the Marks in a manner that places the validity or enforceability of any of the Marks in danger under applicable laws.
- b. Any dispute which arises out of or relates to this Agreement shall be determined by arbitration at Los Angeles, California, or such other location upon which the parties to the dispute may agree. In the event of arbitration, the parties to the dispute shall attempt to agree upon a single arbitrator to hear the dispute. If they are unable to do so, each party shall select a separate arbitrator, and the two arbitrators so selected shall choose a third arbitrator. Each arbitrator shall be a member in Good Standing of a Church of the Scientology religion and shall be familiar with the Scientology Scriptures, and in particular, those Scientology Scriptures pertaining to the Scientology Ethics and Justice System of the Churches of Scientology. All such arbitration shall be conducted in accordance with the Scientology Ethics and Justice System, and the decision of the arbitrator or arbitrators shall be final.

THE CHURCH OF SCIENTOLOGY
A VITAL FORCE IN YOUR COMMUNITY

■ INTRODUCTION

"A civilization without insanity, without criminals and without war, where the able can prosper and honest beings can have rights, and where man is free to rise to greater heights, are the aims of Scientology."

L. Ron Hubbard
September 1965

Throughout history, the goal of a world free from war, crime, and insanity has been shared by great leaders and common men and women alike.

Meanwhile, violent crime, drug abuse, illiteracy and environmental pollution are escalating at an alarming rate, affecting every man, woman and child on earth.

Never before has the need for workable solutions been so urgent.

Today, through the work of Churches of Scientology and their members all around the world, workable solutions to these problems are being provided.

In an age when more and more people find it tempting to be spectators, Scientologists are rolling up their sleeves and doing something effective about society's ills.

The work of the Church centers around providing services on a one-to-one basis that give people the skills to communicate better, effectively deal with stress and upsets on the job and with family members, completely overcome the effects of past drug use, and effectively handle the myriad of day-to-day problems that we all face in today's world.

L. Ron Hubbard, the founder of the Scientology religion, developed the most workable technology available to solve life's problems. Armed with this technology, Church members reach out and use their skills to improve conditions around them so that all can benefit.

On every continent of the world, Scientologists are engaged in community programs — working with other individuals and groups to provide valuable services to people in their communities. These programs include those which reduce drug abuse and illiteracy, combat crime and violence in the community, clean up the environment, and restore hope to those whose lives have been afflicted with misfortune.

Church members are leading the way in improving the communities in which they live.

Applying the technology developed by L. Ron Hubbard, Scientologists are effective in what they do — they provide workable solutions to today's community problems.

Other publications detailing the many services provided by the Church of Scientology to people who want to improve their personal lives are available upon request.

This booklet contains an overview of the community services Scientologists are providing in order to build a better world.

■ CREATING DRUG-FREE COMMUNITIES

Today, illegal drugs are a $500 billion a year industry — the largest industry on planet Earth. Not surprisingly, drugs are the number one concern in society today. According to a 1989 poll in the United States, 86 percent of adults now consider drugs the most serious national problem, ahead of worries about the economy, pollution and the threat of nuclear war.

The highly publicized "War on Drugs" is being fought not only in the jungles of South America, but in the streets, homes and schools of major cities throughout the world. The concern is a very real one: every day people are being destroyed by drugs.

For more than three decades, Scientologists have fought against the scourge of drugs and have been providing their communities with solutions to drug abuse.

Churches of Scientology throughout the world deliver the only workable methods to fully handle the drug problem, a series of programs developed by L. Ron Hubbard which eradicate the devastating effects of past drug intake, as well as the urge to take drugs. Through these programs, Scien-tologists have freed more than 100,000 people from drugs.

Renowned celebrities and members of the Church, such as U.S. Olympic gymnast Charles Lakes, musician Nicky Hopkins, singer Maxine Nightingale and actor John Travolta, have toured the world and visited schools and civic organizations to warn against drugs and increase public awareness of the drug problem.

In Canada, members of the Church have gathered the support of hundreds of community leaders, athletes, celebrities and other citizens in signing "Say 'No' to Drugs" Honor Rolls, and have participated in numerous anti-drug events.

In Italy, the players, coach and manager of the Milan soccer team, winner of the Intercontinental Cup, have all given their support to the Church's campaign and have signed the "Say 'No' to Drugs" Honor Roll.

Civic organizations and drug rehabilitation groups throughout the Los Angeles community, as well as the mayor, City Council and members of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, have lent their support to the Church's anti-drug activities.

The "Lead the Way to a Drug-Free LA" campaign which was started by Scientologists in Los Angeles has expanded into "Lead the Way to a Drug-Free U.S.A.," one of the largest and most successful nationwide anti-drug campaigns in the United States.

For more than three decades, Scientologists have fought against the scourge of drugs and have been providing their communities with solutions to drug abuse.

The Crusader
Anti-Drug Group Formed

Clergy and Congregations Against Drugs

By Thomas G. Whittle
Special to The Crusader

LOS ANGELES — One of the central figures in the founding of the Religious Freedom Crusade and the formation of a new interdenominational anti-drug group, Clergy and Congregations Against Drugs, is Thomas G. Whittle, a member of the Religious Freedom Crusade's Advisory Board.

In exclusive interviews with Mr. Whittle and Mr. Nicholas, discussed the reasons for working against drug abuse.

Mr. Whittle is a Scientologist since 1971, a founder of the Hollywood Says "No to Drugs" House Roll and Hollywood Says "No to Drugs."

There are groups that are currently working to combat the drug problem in the United States and abroad. Hundreds of churches as well as youth groups, and many other religious groups, have joined the crusade against drugs.

The urgent need for effective action was pointed out by Mr. Nicholas. Lacking drugs, one of the biggest careers in our nation today, he warned that they are running over by the thousands every day.

Mr. Nicholas said: "Drugs have taken a toll that is hard to estimate. The drug damage that is done includes many people going to premature graves, leaving their families and their loved ones. Drugs have caused many medical costs and lives of crime, degradation and prostitution."

He concluded: "The more people you can get to say 'No to Drugs,' the better."

Continuing people to say "No to Drugs" has been a part of Jeff Pomeroy's life for a long time. One of the thousands of his graduates and drug work, in late 1980 Mr. Pomeroy was invited to the White House by President and Mrs. Reagan to discuss drug education and drug rehabilitation programs. In 1981 he served as moderator for the White House Conference for a Drug-Free America Town Hall meeting held in Los Angeles.

He also addressed audiences at the United Nations International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking in June 1987.

President and Mrs. Reagan, Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley, and California Governor George Deukmejian have all signed the Hollywood Says "No to Drugs" House Roll pledge.

Scientologists have taken the leading role in publishing a newspaper in which the activities of the group, "Clergy and Congregations Against Drugs," have been widely publicized. As a result, many ministers and their congregations have joined in and pledged themselves to a world without drugs.

SOLUTIONS TO DRUGS

- INVOLVED!, a community newsletter published by the Church of Scientology, features information on anti-drug events and community groups combating drug abuse in the Washington, D.C., area.

- Over 100,000 people have been freed from the harmful effects of drugs by means of the Purification Program, developed by L. Ron Hubbard. Copies of the book, Purification: An Illustrated Answer to Drugs, and the book Clear Body, Clear Mind, which describe this effective program, are widely distributed to let people know there is an answer to the drug problem. The Purification Program is the most successful program ever developed to eradicate the harmful effects of drugs, any drugs.

- The Narconon Chilocco New Life Center is located on 167 acres in the Great Plains of Oklahoma. The Church of Scientology and its members support Narconon, an international network of groups that delivers a totally drug-free, highly effective program to rehabilitate drug and alcohol abusers and put them back in control of their lives.

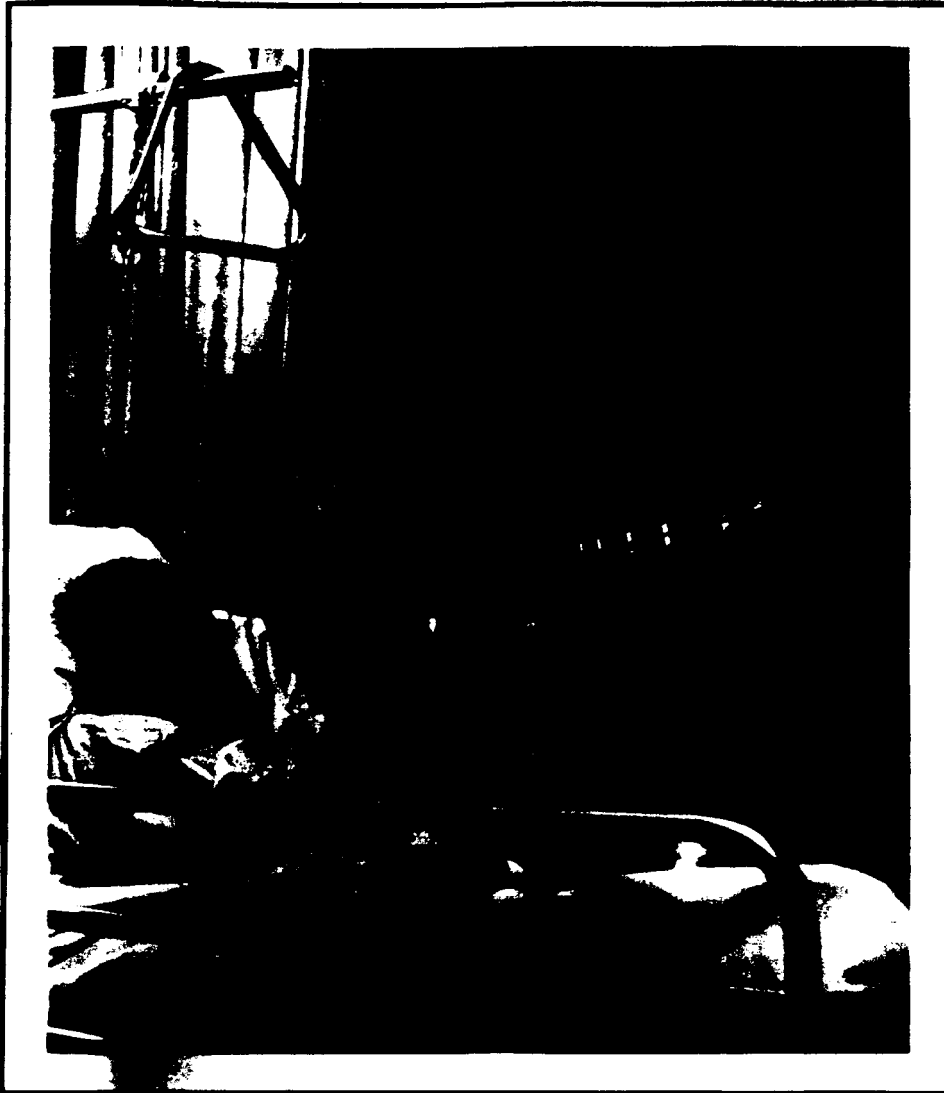

The Church of Scientology directs people seeking help with severe drug problems to Narconon, the most effective international network of drug rehabilitation centers in the world. (Narconon means non-narcosis or no drugs.)

Narconon bases its program entirely on the drug rehabilitation techniques developed by L. Ron Hubbard.

With a success rate of over 70 percent, documented by independent studies, Narconon achieves unprecedented results in the field of drug rehabilitation. Members of the Church have donated millions in funds and resources in support of this program.

Churches of Scientology and their members around the world are effectively combating the drug problem. They are providing workable solutions, educating people in their communities on the harmful effects of drugs and directing those already trapped by drug addiction to the only methods that will get them off drugs for good.

■ LEADING THE WAY TO BETTER COMMUNITY LIFE

Communities around the world are confronted with the problem of how to care for homeless and needy individuals who have been abandoned on the streets of our cities, or left alone in orphanages or homes for the aged with no means of taking care of themselves.

Scientologists are leading the way in improving life for those in need.

At Churches of Scientology around the world, courses are delivered that provide the most workable technology for organizing any activity or group of people to actually get something done. These effective methods, developed by L. Ron Hubbard, are applicable on the job, as well as in the community.

Church members use this valuable administrative technology to organize campaigns and programs in areas where they live. Because they are effective in whatever endeavors they undertake, Scientologists are usually found leading such drives and spearheading new programs to take care of those in need of help.

From clothing and toy drives for the underprivileged, to entertainment for the elderly, and blood drives for the ill, Scientologists around the world are helping to fulfill these community needs.

Volunteers working for the Church of Scientology's Community Outreach Group, for example, in close cooperation with the County of Los Angeles, have donated thousands of hours of time and effort on many different projects.

One of the organizations the Church has supported is the Los Angeles County Department of Children's Services, an agency which provides care and shelter to homeless and abused children throughout the county.

Scientologists have become a leading force in their communities and are helping restore purpose, self-respect and hope to those in need.

The Community Outreach Group's services have included delivering entertainment to the elderly, donating thousands of gifts to foster children, and painting murals for children.

In acknowledgement for its contributions, the Church has been presented with numerous awards, including the "Volunteer Group of the Year" award for "consistent and outstanding contributions to the Department of Children's Services programs," as well as commendations from the City Council of Los Angeles, the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, and the Senate of the State of California.

Similarly, Church members in many other areas have taken leading roles in charity drives for community groups.

In Seattle, Washington, the Church hosted bike-a-thon fundraising activities to collect money for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Scientologists in Austin, Texas, have joined in the March of Dimes fundraising event: Walk America. The money raised helped to pay for further research into preventing birth defects and providing intensive care facilities for children.

In San Francisco, California, Church members enthusiastically supported the United States Marine Corps Reserves in gathering Christmas toys for children. A Certificate of Appreciation was presented to the Church for "outstanding support of a program for the less fortunate children of our community, Toys for Tots."

Church members in Sacramento, California, head a project called "Operation Caring" — a community outreach program that provides support and companionship for the elderly who are often unable to care for themselves.

In these and many other ways, Scientologists have become a leading force in their communities and are helping restore purpose, self-respect and hope to those in need.

Instructions for wrapping paper should also be provided. Toys can be dropped off at the Church of Scientology located at 201 N. Ingalls St. Ann Arbor from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. James Perry can be reached at the Church of Scientology at 445-5112 for more information.

Blood drive for church

The Church of Scientology of Sacramento will conduct a community blood drive July 17-21.

The drive is to replenish blood already used and to encourage Sacramento residents to help others in time of need, church officials said.

The church's goal is to produce enough blood to boost the supply for the Sacramento Blood Bank. Donors are asked to visit one of the three blood bank centers from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The locations are 1625 Stockton Blvd., 7979 Greenback Lane and 7880 Alta Valley Drive. For more information, call Gail Gallegos at 448-5291.

■ Fifteen artists from the Visual Artists Association of the Church of Scientology donated thousands of hours over an 18-month period, painting 14 murals at the West Los Angeles Children's Services Center and at the Dependency Court in Van Nuys. The murals present a peaceful and problem-free environment for abused children and their parents.

Dear Pam:

Thank you for coordinating your emergency blood drive with the American Red Cross. I cannot thank you and your members enough for the wonderful job you did in recruiting blood donors.

We registered 9 donors and 7 people were actually able to give on the day of the blood drive. My special thanks to all those who gave so much of themselves in donating. They belong to the Royal Order of Lifesavers, remembering their one unit of blood has helped save the lives of four people.

With your continued support, I look forward to the success of your next blood drive, and to working with you as we continue to strive toward the safest blood supply possible for area patients. Thank you.

■ SAFEGUARDING OUR ENVIRONMENT

In the words of L. Ron Hubbard, "Man has reached the potential capacity to destroy the planet. He must be pushed on up to the capability and actions of saving it. It is, after all, what we're standing on."

Media accounts abound with stories about accidents involving oil and chemical spills, problems with power plants and radioactive wastes, and a host of other environmental hazards.

Environmental issues such as the depletion of the earth's ozone layer, the Chernobyl atomic reactor tragedy, and the Exxon Valdez oil spill off the coast of Alaska have forced many people to consider the very real and daunting possibility of a future environment no longer capable of supporting life.

Knowing that the survival of our planet depends on caring for and upgrading our surroundings, Scientologists are spearheading campaigns to reverse the trend of environmental destruction.

Church members are active in projects such as recycling drives and campaigns that improve city environments, such as removing graffiti and repainting walls of downtown buildings.

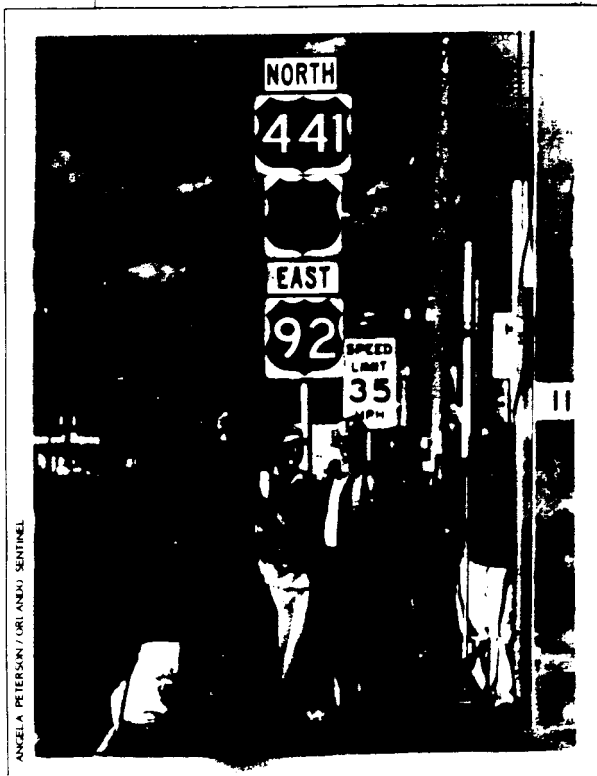

Children of Scientology families are encouraged to take part in projects to preserve and improve their environment. For example, in many cities, they routinely volunteer time each week helping to maintain their local city parks and beaches.

Dear Mr. Benson:

I wanted to thank you and the other members of the Church of Scientology who helped in the 90th Annual Coastal Cleanup Day on September 23, 1989. Your efforts at Arroyo Buero Beach were greatly appreciated. We couldn't have done it without you.

Your participation was part of a countywide effort that saw over 800 volunteers clean 6.6 tons of trash from the beaches. Recyclables accounted for 1.5 tons of that trash. A job well done!

I look forward to working with the Church of Scientology on other events such as this and will keep you posted about Coastal Cleanup Day 1990.

Dear Community Leader:

On behalf of the City of Los Angeles, I would like to thank you for helping make L.A. Sparkle. Your participation in a recent community clean-up is an indication of the pride and spirit that has been flourishing throughout the City of Los Angeles. Volunteers such as yourself have contributed an untold number of hours beautifying their neighborhoods with the assistance of Operation Clean Sweep and these efforts are appreciated.

Los Angeles has the potential to be one of the world's most beautiful cities but a lack of resources prevents City forces from providing beyond the most basic services. Local residents must be encouraged to take an interest in and become involved with environmental enhancement projects including graffiti removal, recycling, litter clean-up, tree planting, air and water quality improvements, etc. Only through the combined efforts of City resources and community participation will Los Angeles be able to take its rightful place at the forefront of environmental beautification efforts heading into the 21st century.

■ REDUCING CRIME IN THE COMMUNITY

As we move into the 1990s, crime is increasingly becoming a major factor in the everyday lives of citizens throughout the world. Assault and battery, armed robbery, embezzlement, drive-by shootings and murder splatter the media daily.

Scientologists believe that safeguarding the environment extends to creating an environment free of crime.

The ultimate solution, of course, is eradicating criminals' impulses to commit crimes and bringing them up to the point where they are capable of living ethical lives — both of which are achievable through application of Scientology technology.

Through a highly successful program called Criminon (meaning "no crime"), Scientologists are bringing about true reform, resulting in a dramatic reduction of the 60 to 80 percent reversion rate of criminals.

The Church and its members also acknowledge the difficult task performed by law enforcement officials in their communities, and they encourage citizen support for their work. Scientologists around the world actively work, in cooperation with their local police departments, to reduce crime.

In San Francisco, California, Scientologists spearheaded the creation of a Neighborhood Crime Watch program designed to protect those who live in the community near the Church.

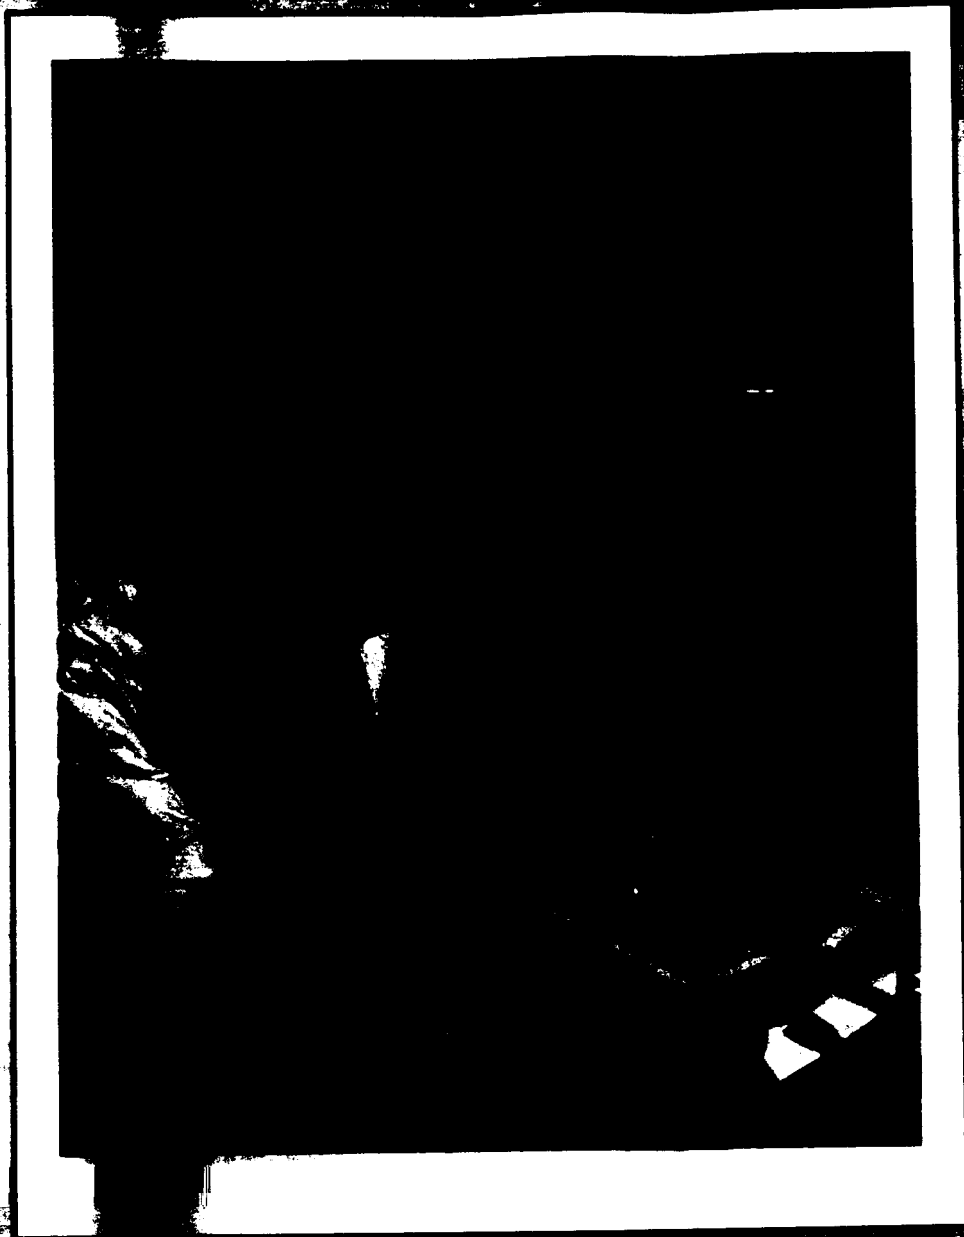

In Montreal, Canada, the Church of Scientology sponsored a contest inviting the public to write essays regarding crime reduction as a means of raising public awareness of, and appreciation for, the daily task of law enforcement officials.

In these and many other ways, Scientologists are contributing to the reduction of crime and the creation of a safe environment.

■ A VITAL FORCE IN IMPROVING EDUCATION

The close connection between poor educational performance and the epidemic of drugs and crime that has seized America and much of the Western world cannot be overlooked. In fact, $6.6 billion a year is being spent in the U.S. alone to keep 750,000 illiterates in jail.

The issue of functional illiteracy lies at the center of the problems of crime, drugs, unemployment and the homeless.

Scientologists believe that the quality of one's life improves to the degree that life is understood. With increased understanding, people are better able to take control of their own lives. To attain such abilities, it is first necessary to be able to study and learn.

L. Ron Hubbard, American author, educator and humanitarian, recognized the failings of modern education and training many years before education horror stories began to make newspaper headlines around the world. "As Man is as able as he can learn and know, it is URGENT that a workable technology is available to him," he wrote.

Four decades of extensive research by Mr. Hubbard led to an educational breakthrough — the first comprehensive understanding of the real barriers to effective learning and a workable technology that handles these barriers. Through application of the methods he developed, even the most difficult student can improve his ability to comprehend and evaluate information.

In order to bring better education to our society, Scientologists in cities across the world are participating in voluntary weekend tutoring programs. Tremendous results are being attained in raising proficiency in standard school subjects.

Scientologists have also lent their support to an international organization called Applied Scholastics. This network of groups delivers Mr. Hubbard's study methods in both private and public educational systems on five continents. Applied Scholastics is recognized as the most effective education program in the world.

Through the application of the methods L. Ron Hubbard developed, even the most difficult student can improve his ability to comprehend and evaluate information.

■ Tutoring programs run by Scientologists are helping to increase literacy rates.

■ VOLUNTEER MINISTERS ARE IMPROVING CONDITIONS

Throughout history, governments and individuals have failed to solve the problem of how to deal with irrational and anti-social behavior. Without understanding the causes of such behavior, the attempted solutions have all too often relied upon the power of armies and police forces to enforce the standards of rightness determined by society's leaders.

However, the use of force to control behavior is a poor substitute for understanding and inevitably leads to injustice.

In 1976, L. Ron Hubbard wrote The Volunteer Minister's Handbook, in which he lays out numerous practical and basic Scientology principles and methods for dealing with personal and social problems.

Mr. Hubbard states in the handbook: "A society to survive well, needs at least as many Volunteer Ministers as it has policemen. A society gets what it concentrates upon. By concentrating on spiritual values instead of criminality a new day may yet dawn for Man."

One of the most popular programs of the Church of Scientology in South Africa is the Volunteer Minister's Association. Based on the teachings in the handbook, volunteer Scientology ministers go out into their communities and provide valuable services in such areas as study, marriage and family life, increasing one's integrity and handling the environment.

Thousands of people in South Africa have attended seminars and classes conducted by members of the Volunteer Minister's Association. As a result of these services, many individuals have attained new abilities and meaning in their lives. Whereas South Africa has been a center of controversy for decades due to its "apartheid" politics, Scientologists in South Africa are actively leading the black communities towards improved living conditions and the opportunity to lead dignified and productive lives.

■ Volunteer Ministers are providing services that create many positive changes in the lives of South Africans.

"It was as if I was reborn, the first day this workshop was introduced to me. This programme has become my weapon in conquering all the problems I encountered." — M.S.

"I have finally understood the reasons why I tend to lose motivation when studying or listening to a teacher." — H.N.

"I found the workshop very educative and eye-opening. It made me sure of a lot of things in my personal life and in my everyday work." — G.M.

Integrity and new hope

Integrity was the subject of a workshop attended by secondary and primary school teachers recently at the Daveyton Library.

The workshop was presented by the Volunteer Minister's Association, a mission of the Church of Scientology, at the invitation of Mr. Joseph Mokoena — an enthusiastic librarian keen to serve his community.

"I was so impressed by this integrity workshop when it was run for social workers and other staff at the Town Council Chambers in September, that I felt it was vital for our teachers to have this information as well," he said.

Teachers discovered that, in a cynical world, often hooded by the individual, it may seem impossible that anyone could ever change their status and move up to higher states of freedom and ability. The soaring crime rate, violence, rape, child abuse and drug addiction in society engender a feeling that all is hopeless.

The Volunteer Minister's Association, through its various workshops, brings hope that something can be done by the individual.

L. RON HUBBARD

American Author, Educator and Humanitarian

L. Ron Hubbard is one of the most acclaimed and widely read authors of all time, whose writings on self-improvement have benefited the lives of millions of people in all walks of life.

As a result of his intensive researches into spiritual improvement, he has published all told more than 300 non-fiction titles and has given in excess of 6,000 lectures on Scientology and Dianetics technologies. These materials form the basis of the many courses and other services delivered by the Church of Scientology that are available today.

His best selling self-help book Dia- netics: The Modern Science of Mental Health has sold more than 13 million copies and continues to appear on The New York Times and other best seller lists around the world 40 years after its original publication.

Mr. Hubbard's works deal with the importance of the family and children, how to be happy, the nature of communication, teaching and learning, memory, how to regain lost abilities, how to solve problems, how to overcome the effects of drugs, the value of work in society and the nature of religion.

In his many, many written and recorded works there can be found hundreds of axiomatic truths and workable data that enable one to find out more and more about himself, his capabilities, his relationship to others, and how to apply this valuable data to life in order to improve conditions and relationships.

Testimony to the applicability and workability of his discoveries are millions of happy and successful Scientologists affiliated with more than 600 Scientology Churches, Missions and groups internationally, as well as thousands of other people not directly affiliated with the Church of Scientology who are using and benefiting from his technology in many aspects of their lives.

The number of people who are applying Mr. Hubbard's principles continues to increase daily, as more and more discover that they can flourish and prosper through the application of his incredibly effective technology.

"I like to help others," L. Ron Hubbard has said, "and count it as my greatest pleasure in life to see a person free himself of the shadows which darken his days."
