

She Criticizes Letter About Civil Defense

Editor The News: Often we hear that it's not so much the danger without that threatens us, but the danger within.

The letter written by Maude Brady on Civil Defense was the longest one on satire that I've ever read. Her whimsy is unexcelled and her wit is naturally very badly informed. Naturally her every point was a distorted and warped bit of misinformation, but her style of writing about it is magnificent.

Such Is Progress
It's a shame that the rifle made spears obsolete, that cars made the horse and buggy out of date, that H-bombs made previous arms out-moded, that ICBMs made everything along the same line passe.

At home, such is progress! No longer can we defend ourselves with a horn-nailed club like the cave man did. Every time we think we can take pretty good care of ourselves, the guys smarter than us dream up something else to watch out for and make everything gone before look like a nickel bag of peanuts.

It is not Civil Defense policy to go round scaring the daylight out of people. Rather, it uses a more positive approach along the lines thusly:

It Could Happen
"You folks who would like very much to survive any kind of disaster are asked to keep a little reserve food on hand, a little extra gas in your car, and learn to follow directions if you are asked to." It's as simple as that.

No saddling up of bulldozers to go galloping down the freeways to chase everybody off of a cliff. CD is established to save as many lives as possible and to minimize property damage if there is a disaster.

Don't say it couldn't happen here. It could. Chicago has had one considerable bonfire, the Johnstown flood is history, San Francisco has had its teeth rattled Texas City experienced the benefits of CD during explosions there and subsequent fires, and Yuba City had a good dunking a while back. We're not immune. Anyone says we are is kidding.

It's Controversial
Well, Civil Defense doesn't advise us to allow ourselves to be a city of sitting ducks. CD does not tell us to stick our heads in the sand so we won't see any bad old things happen like forest fires or floods. CD does not say to ignore the possibility of a disaster and maybe it'll go away.

Civil Defense is quite controversial anyway, but most people are willing to learn more about it. Most rational people, that is, I wonder if the people who give their children polio shots would believe that CD is a similar type of insurance against calamity.

As long as Mrs. Brady considers Civil Defense so deadly, perhaps she'd like to dispense with all the military forces, the police and fire departments and emergency hospitals too. After all, there's no war going on, and we haven't had a single earthquake since 1951, and even then it didn't crack the dirt on Sepulveda Dam we're sitting under. Why should we have any of the above? Purely superfluous, eh, Mrs. Brady?

Crackpots Are Worst
I would like to have the same length of letter written by the same author, with an equal degree of constructive criticism. I would like to advise anyone reading the article written by Mrs. B. to realize that hers and to a degree, mine, are written tongue-in-cheek, and if there are any questions regarding any point of her letter to contact the proper Civil Defense Authorities in their area for straight answers. They're in the "phone book."

Believe me, the problem children who make the selling of Civil Defense so kind of unhandy are small in number, and are considered downright unneighborly. Of all the possible disasters: fires, floods, earthquakes, enemy attacks, plane crashes, undetectable water main leaks, etc., the worst menaces of all are the crackpots.

Psycho-Analysis and Mental Health Propaganda

Editor The News:

Our American people, to be sure, are being deluged with cleverly planned and skillfully executed barrage of propaganda, designed to promote the adoption of so-called mental health legislation by national, state and local government, under the broad and disarming-innocent title of the "mental health program."

For the past three years these programs have been rapidly "mushrooming" in most parts of the country under the guidance of unknown and untrained alien psychiatrists who have been quick to seize upon the innate kindness, hospitality, and altruism of our Christian American people, and to offer a variety of programs for "mental health" and "collectivist" schemes.

Most of the suave, high-pressure speakers who present these programs, are saturated with a heavy alien accent and it doesn't require too much analysis of the beautifully-packaged, deceptively-named "mental health" programs, already become law, or now pending before our national and state law-making bodies, to understand that the ultimate, intended goal of these proposed legislative acts is a vicious attempt to destroy the self-reliance of the American citizen—and that it is an ominous threat to deprive him of his freedom and liberty.

Become Easy Prey
After a careful reading of this propaganda now being huckstered around by speakers and organizers who can hardly enunciate English, and after listening to their oratory filled with pretense of concern for those who they claim are "mentally ill," anyone with average intelligence should become convinced that most of these Mental Health "proposals" are political schemes to transform any citizen who may refuse to conform to any political objective being promoted by the nation, state or community in which he lives, into a faceless—spineless—characterless non-entity, devoid of will power or ambition—easy prey to those who may be in a position to exert power over him.

The modus operandi of silencing the "non-conformist,"—for example, any person who speaks out, or writes in hostile language against "One World Super Government"—sponsors, within the United Nations organization, is to rate him as being "mentally ill" and should be committed to some "national insane asylum."

Trend Is Revealed
There is stressed the "usual" propaganda of "great benefits" of the Mental Health programs, emphasizing the efficiency of treatment and the speed by which the victims are returned to the community in large numbers, after treatment.

Any informed person knows well that, once a person is committed to an insane institution,—private, or political influence can keep him there till "doomsday."

The proponents of these Mental Health programs and associations, are, in most cases, those who are identified with "One World Super Government" (a cult within the United Nations organization),—the UNESCO "World Health Organization," and the "World Federation for Mental Health."

These organizations, whose objectives appear to be the ultimate destruction of the sovereignty of this Republic, are operating in all parts of the United States. Their activities reveal an increasing trend toward Marxist subversion and of the possibility of a graphed copy complete—of a violence as evidenced by Section 104(b) of the Alaska Mentally Ill (House Resolution 6376) which says: "Any health, welfare, or police officer who has reason to believe that an individual is mentally ill... is likely to injure himself or others, if not immediately restrained, (violence) may take the individual into custody,—apply to a designated hospital for admission, and transport him thereto."

Objectives Are Disguised
Obviously, without any written authorization except the "written application of an interested party," for example, some welfare worker, American citizen can thus be silenced and deprived of his liberty.

This is indeed a most incredible departure from recognized police procedure in effect today.

Aside from establishing an ideal precedent for shipping off to an insane asylum, any unwanted member of the family, what better scheme could there be for the silencing of those numerous patriotic persons who, for years have been persistently warning our citizens of the Communist and Socialist trends which they despair within our government... .

What better program could there be, especially for satisfying the wrath of Sherman Adams and his White House "Palace Guard," against troublesome dissenters and critics of the Eisenhower administration?

Most certainly, there is no one who would ever oppose the establishment of suitable hospitals and the very best of care for those who are genuinely "mentally ill," or insane.—BUT, the gesture of philanthropy indicated by the numerous Mental Health programs, are, in most cases, an atrocious fraud upon the citizens of this Republic, because they receive the uninformed, —the indifferent,—and the naive,—in carefully disguising and concealing their true objectives, and also their failure to reveal the complexion and identity of their enthusiastic proponents and sponsors.

Extremely Impatient
The rash of Mental Health programs which have flooded the country with increasing vigor during the past few years, carry with them a distinctive odor of the "Super One World Government" and "World Federation of Mental Health" strategists, who have swarmed into this country from Europe during the past 20 years—received here with open arms under the complimentary label of being "political refugees."

They now infest the United Nations Organization,—spreading their political poison where they have been able to carry on their activities and evil work unchecked, constantly working for the destruction of the established order of Christian life within these United States which has afforded them decent living, and asylum from persecution abroad.

These high priests of psychiatry, psychology, and mental health and their educationist stooges,—not satisfied with having, all but, completely destroyed the individual's will to defend his God-given rights, as guaranteed under our constitution, have now become extremely impatient to attain their concealed objectives.

Accordingly, they have turned their attention to plugging the country in the field of Mental Health as an effective means to accomplish the "coup de grace," namely the ultimate perversion of our citizens and the subversion of our Christian American ideals, and trend toward Marxist subversion.

I have before me a mimeographed copy complete—of a text-book purported to be used by the students at the Lenin University in Moscow. The pages of this book are most frightening to read. It is titled "The Communist Manual of Psycho-Political Warfare"...

On the first pages there appears a speech delivered by Commissar Lavrenti Beria (formerly head of Soviet Secret Police) welcoming a group of American students at the University. Portions of Beria's speech are as follows:

"You must dominate, as respected men, the fields of psychiatry and psychology. You must dominate the hospitals and universities. You must carry forward the myth that ONLY an European doctor is competent in the field of insanity, and thus excuse, amongst you, the high incidence of foreign birth and training..."

"With the institutions for the insane which you have in your country, in those prisons which can hold a million persons, where they can be held without civil rights or any hope of freedom—upon these people can be practiced shock and surgery in such a manner that never again will they draw a sane breath."

"Use the courts,—use the judges,—use the Constitution of your country,—its medical societies,—and its laws—to further your ends... And when you have succeeded you can effect your own legislation at will; you can... make the capitalist, himself, finance the quiet conquest—the quiet revolution in your country."

The above paragraph appears to confirm what has so often been told us by Soviet leaders, "We shall take over the United States without firing a shot."

Must Develop Solution
When the deceptive eloquence, and processes of mental trickery practiced by most of the proponents of mental health legislation, have been well exposed—the Congress should take a good look beneath the surface in order to make a thorough investigation of the peculiar personalities behind, and supporting the numerous Mental Health programs.

Then, and not until then, will this atrocious fraud upon our citizens be revealed in all of its stark reality and evildoings.

Instead of establishing, here and there, the national insane asylums contemplated by these alien mental health "experts," for the isolation of patriotic Americans who refuse to conform to the Communist and Socialist trends in government, and who refuse to remain silent in the presence of treason in our Supreme Court, a real solution, in keeping with American tradition, must certainly be developed for the tender care and understanding of those who are genuinely ill mentally.

This must be administered by those of American parentage and Christian background—of proper training and recognized ability in the field of psychiatry and psychology.

Every effort should be made to rid this nation of this alien swarm of phoney psychiatrists and psychologists,—many of whom serve Marxist fanatics by classifying, as mental cases, those Americans of patriotic stature who loudly and courageously oppose such un-American organizations inside the United Nations organization as UNESCO, One World Super Government, and Communism with all its fronts.

Demand Investigation
It appears obvious that if laws could be re-written, mental health prisons created, and if the majority of our voting citizens could be "brain-

Letter on Sepulveda Is Praised

Editor, The News:

After reading Mr. John O'Malley's letter in The News, I certainly want to congratulate him on his fine article; there are many of us here who think along the same lines he does, and I wish there were many more.

I for one, gave up a great many conveniences to live here in suburban Sepulveda, such as street lights, sidewalks, paved streets, transportation, etc. and want to see our town stay as it is.

We surely don't want to sit in our kitchen and hear our neighbor change his mind, or reach across and shake hands with him, for that is just what will happen if this rezoning takes place.

I live in the area mentioned by Mr. O'Malley and know what he is talking about; he has the right idea. Every visitor we have here (out-of-town or not) always mentioned the fact of the breathing space we have and some of them wish they had the same.

We also have horsemen coming down our street and know they are enjoying one of the modern freedoms we have here in Sepulveda, and the children have the time of their lives with their horses. We are an elderly couple and have no children of our own, but certainly like to see them happy. We have youngsters all around us here.

I am also very much in accord with his idea of keeping the so-called business district along Sepulveda Blvd. (there is more than enough room there) and have our neighborhood a place to enjoy and have friends do likewise.

We would like to be present if and when the next meeting is held, and would certainly appreciate the notice being published in The News.

Yours for a clean, healthy, breathing space.—Sepulveda.

Young Girl Hurt In Tumble Out of Turning Auto

A young girl received multiple minor injuries when she fell from a car which was turning onto Sepulveda Blvd. off Magnolia Blvd., police reported.

The passenger, Linda Loraine Lambert 15, of 15825 Community St., received brush burns of the arms, legs, hip, foot and a possible fracture of the foot.

Police identified the driver as Patrick Michael O'Connell 17, of 4923 Van Alder St. who said he was taking several teenagers home from school.

washed" into the belief that every non-conformist is a victim of "mental illness," then those who conspire to destroy the sovereignty of the United States of America, might finally succeed in the establishment of a "Super One-World Government" to succeed the United Nations Organization.

There would then be no need for concentration camps. Institutions for the "mentally ill" would suffice.

Every Senator and Congressman should be deluged with letters demanding the immediate investigation of all mental health bills, now pending before the Congress.

Investigation should also be demanded to disclose the identity of those who are financing and promoting them. Many of these bills, like the Alaska Mental Health Bill (HR 6376), reek with medical fraud and possible treason.

Your demands should be made NOW, before it is too late.

Education in Liberal Arts Seen Deterrent to Conflict

Editor, The News:

So many important people are stampeding for more scientific education in our schools that we may be in danger of developing a lot of top-sided Americans.

"Conquering outer space" will avail us little. It might only mean getting more room to be foolish in. What we need is not only more scientific research and training but more education in the liberal arts. The greatest scientific tool is that themselves.

Among other things, we must learn how to live and govern ourselves to create a better civilization. We must study our neighbors and how to get along with them. We want other nations to admire us, not fear us.

Turned to Fanatic
At the time of the First World War, Germany was regarded as the best educated country in the world. One did not attempt to delve very deeply into science without learning the German language first.

The Kaiser's army was the last word in military might. When it started to roll Europe was terrified. And what stopped it? American citizen-soldiers, armed with shotguns and brickbats, so to speak, and led by an ex-Indian fighter.

Then these same scientific and militaristic Germans, not knowing how to govern themselves, turned to an ignorant fanatic to lead them out of their misery.

Hitler's goose-steppers, aided by the best scientists and engines of war in Europe, were crushing all military opposition when a liberty-loving American army again crossed the Atlantic and put an end to the supermen.

No more can anyone arouse,

in the German people any enthusiasm about war.

Less For Pleasure
The slaughter in the first few hours of war between United States and Russia would be so appalling that the only thought in anybody's mind on either side would be the quickest way to stop it and liquidate the ruler who started it.

The only answer to holding our own in a rapidly-changing world is more and better education. Don't tell me we can't afford it.

About all we need is fewer cocktail lounges and more schools; less money for play-

The home of Frank Berger, manufacturer, of 14116 Valley Vista St., Sherman Oaks, was looted of $3421.10 in clothing, silverware, electric blankets and bed spreads, according to police.

The burglars forced a screen and window at the rear of the house to gain entrance and then ransacked the entire house taking the loot out the front door.

They left a television set on the parkway in front of the house.

They also took juke boxes and the ponies, and more for school teachers.
